

The Invisible Empire

I'm sure that everyone who has turned a blind eye to the excess and evil that is the insurance industry in America was surprised by Aetna's announcement that they were going to pull out of Obamacare because extending coverage to sick people was screwing with their bottom line. In truth, Aetna is just following through with their threat to pull out of healthcare if they weren't allowed to merge with Humana. So I guess Aetna does keep some of their promises.

large;">