

Fires Out West

Hot as the dickens here, but at least we're not on fire like they are out West.

The mind just boggles when you see the amount of acreage being consumed by fire. Fire seems to be pretty indiscriminate, too.

Rich folks houses are being burned along with the trailer parks. Watching the crews going through doing cleanup, and only finding smoldering wood, is pretty sobering.

I guess nothing bands humanity together like a disaster.