

Let Me Take You Higher

With all of the mean despicable things being said on the campaign trail, all of the mean allegations back and forth in the recent shootings, and all of the acrimony caused by Brexit, I'd like to take today's discussion to a higher level.

The act of legalizing recreational marijuana is underway in California. Currently, California's medical marijuana industry is worth about $2.7 billion dollars. Estimates are that the revenue will double when and if recreational use is permitted.

I guess you could say the stakes couldn't get any higher.