

It's Hot!

Well, I haven't complained about the heat in a while, please allow me to do so.

It's HOT!!!! Popup thunderstorms just seem to create a sauna like effect to further punish our frail bodies. It's easy to see how the cradle of civilization was in Africa, and then everybody moved to colder climates.

Using my reasoning, the Scandinavian countries should be leading the world in education and quality of life. I bet there's some mighty smart Eskimos, too.