

Things Are Not Nice In Nice

It is not a good morning.

A nut job in Nice, France has killed 84 people with a truck. The mind boggles. It is too sad to comprehend, and yet, everyone must pick themselves up, dust themselves off and start all over again. It will be interesting to see over the next few days if there were warning signs.

Should someone have noticed that this guy was so deranged that he might be capable of acting out in such a horrific way?